Good to know

A CT scanner uses a computer and X-Rays to create detailed images of the inside of your body. An X-Ray tube creates X-rays which are passed through your body and are collected by detectors on each side. The data is transferred to a computer which creates a 3D image of the body which is displayed on the screen.

A CT scan is great for viewing parts of the body difficult to reach with other procedures. These scans can view:

- Bones.
- Internal organs.
- Soft tissue.
- Muscles.
- Blood vessels.

CT scans work effectively by sending out multiple beams of X-rays at different angles, giving a clear picture of the scanned area. Depending on the reason for the scan, it will take between 15 minutes and 1 hour.
